Bay Point Landing

MODERN CAMPING RESORT

Founded in 2018, Bay Point Landing is the premier destination for modern camping on the Oregon Coast. Bordered by a dense forest overlooking more than a mile of secluded beachfront along Oregon's South Coast, Bay Point Landing was designed as a private retreat, a place for connection with nature and the water.

Preserving the bay's natural beauty, the design clarifies the character of the 103-acre inlet site by revealing the landscape and its history. This area offers well-appointed Airstream and cabin accommodations, luxury RV sites, and curated amenities.

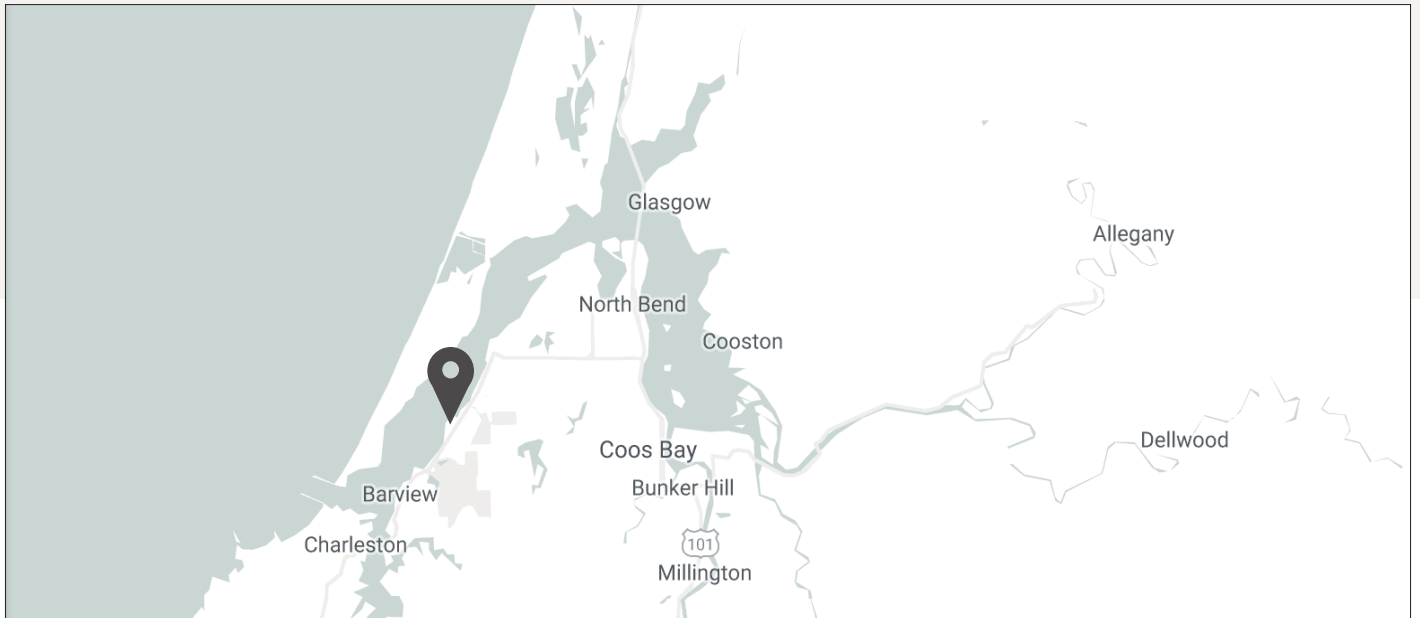

LOCATION HIGHLIGHTS

Bay Point Landing is a modern camping resort nestled along a mile of exclusive waterfront in Lower Coos Bay on the Oregon Coast. Bordered by a dense forest along Oregon's South Coast, the sites at Coos Bay were designed as a private retreat and place to connect with the sea.

From here, it's easy to access Cape Arago State Park, where whale watching, hiking, and fishing can be enjoyed in a peaceful setting. Also nearby is the Coos Bay boardwalk, the 7 Devils Brewing Co. and the Coquille River Lighthouse. The northern spit of Coos Bay is also an excellent spot to check out local wildlife, as it sits between the beach and the bay, surrounded by freshwater wetlands and ponds.
